SUCCESS STORY

Ms. Schersel graduated from Rancho High School and has been a part of Communities in School and Workforce Investment Program since October 2012. She was enrolled in the magnet program, specializing in Medicine and wanted to pursue her dream to attend Southern Utah University and continue onto University of California, Los Angeles for medical school. While struggling with the demands of home, culture, religion, and school, student was not sure whether she would receive acceptance due to her falling behind in school with a low GPA. Education is not a high value at home, and rather student is encouraged to work than go to school. After much conversation regarding applying to schools, her graduate advocate counselor encouraged Ms. Schersel to call the admissions office to inquire regarding the requirements for admissions. After speaking to the admissions office, student submitted an application and short after received an acceptance letter. Workforce Investment Act youth services are changing lives!
